Entire class gives promise of being one of the best in Pittsylvania county. This is its first year as a complete four year high school, such rapid strides have been made that it will no doubt rank with the better known schools in a very short while.

The patrons are enthusiastic and their interest in the progress of the school never lessens. It has become a source of civic pride for it was thru their co-operation that success has been realized. They made it possible for children within a radius of ten miles of school to attend this year by supplying means of transportation to and from school. It is safe to say that the community will grow with the school.

In spite of the late start and consequent late closing the school year has been a full and beneficial one. The plans for next year include additional improvement to the building and equipment. The faculty will be increased by the establishment of a Home Economics course and there is a possibility of a further increase. The laboratory facilities are excellent and the library is adequate.

The school satisfies a long felt need in the territory extending from Chestnut Level as far as Greenville. In addition to these two places students have attended from Snochoe, Java and Mt. Airy. Therefore it can be seen how important this institution is as a unit in the Pittsylvania county school system.

The graduating class which numbers six will be addressed on commencement night by Mr. Henry G. Ellis, State supervisor of High Schools. This undeniably shows that the State Department is interested in the development and progress of the school.

The public is cordially invited to attend the finals.

HOW TO CARE FOR THE BABY DURING THE HOT SUMMER

A baby must keep regular hours. His bath, feeding, outing, play time, nap, going to stool, everything, in fact, should be carried on with as much care, precision and regularity as is necessary with any fine machine. The following every-day program can, of course, be modified to suit special conditions:

Six a. m.—Baby's first nursing. Family breakfast. Children off to school.

Nine a. m.—Baby's bath and second nursing. Sleep till noon.

Twelve a. m.—Baby's noon meal. Out-of-door airing. Nap.

Three p. m.—Afternoon nursing. Period of waking.

Six p. m.—Baby's supper and bed. Ten to twelve p. m.—Baby's night meal. "Sleep till six."

The child develops fastest during the first year of his life. Medical authorities agree that he needs 18 to 20 hours sleep during his first month; 16 hours during the next 11 months; and 12 hours during the next year.

"Early to Bed."

He should have his longest sleep at night. If he has been properly trained he will sleep after his night nursing till the next morning.

A baby's increase in weight is a reliable index to his health. After the first week the loss of a pound or two means much to a baby. When he fails to gain or loses, even for one week, it usually means that something is wrong with him or with his food. Whatever it is, it should be remedied at once. Delay may be dangerous! The young mother should weigh her baby every week for nine months, every two weeks for the next three months, and once or twice a month till he enters school. There are tables that show the average rate of normal increase, but regular increase is more important than conforming to a table, and, of course, perfectly normal babies may differ.

Has to Cry.

All crying is not bad; baby needs to do a certain amount of it in order to develop his lungs. But remember that he cannot talk and that it is up to his mother to learn his language and know what is troubling him. All babies have certain ways of telling. For instance:

A low, whimpering cry, sometimes accompanied by sucking the fingers or lips, indicates hunger—or indigestion, caused by over-feeding. Probably you will know which.

Powerful crying means that baby is sleepy or uncomfortable. A rapid, sponge bath and gentle rub, or a change of clothing, or even a mere change of position may probably make him comfortable. If it does not, consult the doctor. The child may be ill.

A just cry, sometimes rising to a shriek and tears in the eyes, usually means colic or pain. In colic the knees are drawn up; in both colic and other pains the fists are likely to be clenched.

Understand Tones.

A low moaning or wail, sometimes with a turning of the head from side to side, means a sick baby. Unusual flushing or pallor, sleeplessness, listlessness, loss of appetite, profuse sweating, peevishness, vomiting, or diarrhea signal that something is wrong.

Don't handle baby too much; his bones bend easily and his muscles get sore and painful; handling after eating upsets his digestion. And, strange as it may seem to old-fashioned nurses, jolting, bouncing and rocking are apt to make a child excitable and nervous.

Baby's muscles get very tired if he lies too long in one position. When he is taken up for any reason, support his head and back straight and his arms and legs free. Never throw him over your shoulder.

MRS. BOATWRIGHT READS A PAPER ON NATURE POETRY

The Garden Club met with and was entertained delightfully by Mrs. William F. Boatwright under the beautiful trees in the yard of her residence on Holbrook avenue. The hostess also read an admirable paper on Nature poetry in the course of which she quoted some of the famous appreciations of traces by some of the world's best known poets and literati.

Another feature of the meeting was a collaborative report by those who attended the recent meeting of the State Federation of Garden Clubs at Charlottesville, those contributing to this being Mrs. S. R. Bula, Mrs. A. B. Carrington and Mrs. W. T. Hughes. Each of these ladies gave her impressions of the meeting and the work and each emphasized the features of the program on that occasion which most impressed and appealed to her. The club received an invitation from Mrs. F. Vass to meet with her next Thursday at her summer home near Barnett's pond, where the water lilies are in bloom and will accept the invitation.

MRS. COFFMAN ILL SEVEN YEARS

Saved from an Operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sidell, Ill.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side, which was almost unbearable, and I could not even let the bed clothing rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so bad until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody, and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help, and the doctors told me that an operation was all there was left. I would not consent to that, so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house, and when my two little girls reach womanhood I intend to teach them to take it. I am never too busy to tell some suffering sister of my help, and you can use my name and letter to spread the good news of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

(Special to The Register)

ROCKY MOUNT, Va., June 8.—The eleventh anniversary program of the Swarthmore Chautauque will open in Rocky Mount on June 16. This will be the fourth season that this Chautauque has appeared in this town, and every time has been a great success.

Featuring the Chautauque this year will be four important lectures, which are said to be full of variety, information, inspiration, and humor. The two principal speakers will be Frank Dixon and Frank B. Pearson. Grove Herbert will start the week of lectures with a masterpiece of spoken word. He is said to have few equals as a word painter. His wit and humor are spontaneous and contagious and his dramatic eloquence is really thrilling, and wholesome leaven of common sense permeates his entire discourse. Concerts will be given this afternoon and evening by the Mary Jane Gage Co. The program will reach its climax on the last night when "The Crossed Wires," a comedy drama will be presented.

Y. M. B. C. Makes Plans For a Swimming Pool

In the Summer a young boy's fancy turns to swimming holes and in Danville swimming holes are just about as scarce as hen's teeth. There is one at the Y. M. C. A. and there are two at Schoolfield. The one at the city Y. M. C. A. is small and entirely inadequate to take care of the demand.

A movement is on foot to construct a swimming pool at some central and easily accessible point. Practically all of the money for this project is in sight, though not all and a call will be made for the rest of the money in the near future by the Y. M. B. C. which initiated the project and expects to see it through. It is understood that the money already contributed came from individuals.

One of the most available sites is back of the High school. Another is back of the Risco Park School and still another is in North Danville, while a fourth site is a previously mentioned place in Ballou park. If the last named place is decided upon the river water will probably be used. It is not thought, however, that this site will be chosen as those who are interested in the project are most anxious to have the pool centrally located so as to be convenient to the greatest number.

City Engineer Ralph Danville and Mr. Sams, secretary of the Y. M. B. C. have been looking at available sites during the past several days, but no decision as to the location has been reached.

A number of ladies' organizations of the city have interested themselves in the pool and the matter will be brought to the attention of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs for their endorsement.

It was learned from the authoritative source last night that the men who are back of the proposition intend to see it through to a successful completion. There have been several attempts in the past to secure a swimming pool for the city that would take care of the needs, but none has been carried out.

CUNO GRANTED SALARY INCREASE

BERLIN, June 8.—Chancellor Cuno, on whom the German people depend for a solution to her political as well as economic troubles, was today granted a salary increase bringing his monthly income up to $67.15 in June.

All officials of the German government were granted similar increases, but natural none compares to the income of the chancellor.

The wives and children of government employees received increases. Frau Cuno, second lady in Germany after Frau Ebert, gets $2,000 marks monthly from today—forty cents for herself and $5 monthly for her five children.

Railway presidents, also paid by the Reich, receive $32 monthly.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR $975

More Cars Shake Themselves to Pieces Than Ever Wear Out

Charge that up to vibration. Vibration causes cars to grow old prematurely by racking their chassis, destroying the "metal life" of vital parts, loosening up their bodies and causing squeaks and rattles. Frequent, costly repairs are the result.

The Studebaker Light-Six is free from vibration than any car of its approximate size or weight yet produced.

This has been accomplished largely by a complete machining of the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces—a practice used by Studebaker exclusively on cars at this price and found only on a very few other cars whose selling prices are from three to ten times as high as the Light-Six.

There are 61 precision operations in the manufacture of the crankshaft alone, 40 of which range in accuracy from one-quarter thousandth to one thousandth of an inch.

The Light-Six motor embodies the most advanced design known to automobile construction. And no chassis at any price is built to more exacting standards of materials and workmanship.

Aside from its mechanical excellence and its consequent long life, the Light-Six is handsome in design, extremely comfortable, sturdy, and we believe the most economical car to buy and operate ever offered at $975 or anywhere near this figure.

Its substantial all-steel body, one-piece, rain-proof windshield, ten-inch cushions upholstered in genuine leather, cowl lamps—these are among many features heretofore to be had only in higher-priced cars.

For 71 years the name Studebaker has stood for integrity, quality and value.

Five Million March in Boys' Week Parades

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 8.—More than 5,000,000 boys in 1,000 cities marched in loyalty parades incident to Boys' Week celebrations throughout the country during May. This is the estimate by William Lewis Butcher of New York, originator of the Boys' Week idea, who is here after watching the celebration in Chicago. In most of these cities the Boys' Week observances are under the general sponsorship of the Rotary clubs. In cities where there are no Rotary Clubs, the American Legion and other organizations are directing the work.

"In all of these places, however, the sponsoring organization is simply acting as the co-ordinator of all the boys organizations, schools and community workers for the purpose of putting before the people of each community its individual boy problem," said Mr. Butcher.

In explaining the origin and motive of Boys' Week, Mr. Butcher said he thought in the beginning that there should be some way of making known the boy problem in each community. Because there are a number of organizations devoted to this work, and it was desirable that Boys' Week should be a community effort, Mr. Butcher confided his plans and hopes to the members of the New York Rotary Club, and they carried them out. New York had its first Boys' Week in 1920. The following year Kansas City and Chicago staged similar demonstrations, and there were Boys' Weeks in other cities. Last year about 200 communities took up the work, and this year Mr. Butcher says more than a thousand communities have put it on their program.

"We estimate that we will show to the country more than eight millions of boys this year," said Mr. Butcher. But the number of boys that march is not two-thirds of the total number interested in the demonstration. In New York alone we reached more than 800,000 boys through the schools.

Bobbed Hair and Husbands' Ire Lead To Dual Suicide Attempt

(By The Associated Press)
LISBON, June 9.—The second officer of the steamer, Bravo Coeur, is under arrest at Oporto, according to a message received here, on a charge of killing the commander of the vessel, the wireless operator and another officer, and wounding a seaman and passenger while at sea. The shooting was done with a revolver. After running amuck, the officer took refuge in his cabin from which he was taken by the police when the ship arrived at Oporto. The prisoner put up a fight with the police and tried to commit suicide.

Steamer's Officer Runs Amuck At Sea; Kills Captain, Wounds Three

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., June 9.—Bobbed hair and the strenuous resultant disapproval expressed by their husbands drove two Detroit women to suicidal attempts yesterday. Mrs. Julia Alamo, 22 years of age had her hair bobbed Wednesday. Her husband beat her, she said, and otherwise neglected to it. She said she swallowed 25 tablets and when they failed to do more than make her dizzy, she took poison from the effects of which is recovering. Mrs. Marjory Anne Webber, 34, was rescued after jumping into the Detroit river early yesterday. She said her husband, a traveling salesman returned from a trip Thursday to find her short of her locks. There was a scene and she left the house threatening to leap into the river.

DO MEN WHO PAY LOW PRICES EXPECT HIGH QUALITY?

We've wondered about this before. Does the man who pays $18.50 expect the equivalent of a $30.00 suit? The same buyer wouldn't expect cord tires at the price of fabrics—nor would he expect a store to lose money on any of his purchases. Cheap clothes are all right if you are out for cheap clothes. Here—we're always out of anything that won't stand up and fight for the man who paid his good money for the merchandise!

This Couple Proved They Were Happy Married Folks

(Special to The Bee.)

LONDON, June 8.—Here's a question for married folks to ponder: "Can you prove to a jury that you're happily married?" The question has just been decided. A court has picked out the champion married couple of the British Isles—they took home the bacon literally.

Honors for 1923 were awarded Tom Groves, labor member of Parliament, and his wife. Couples from all over Great Britain took part in the contest before a quaint court in a village in Essex.

Custom centuries old decrees that every year there shall meet at Dunmow "fitch of bacon" to the couple judged to comply with the conditions set forth in this ancient rhyme: You shall state by custom of confession.

That you ne'er made nuptial transgression, Nor since you were married man and wife.

By household brawls or contentious strife Or otherwise at bed or board Offended each other by deed or word.

Or in a twelve-month and a day Repented not in thought any way. Or since the parish clerk said Amen Wished yourselves unmarried again; But continued true and true in holy quire.

The jury was made up of six of the prettiest girls in the district, and six young bachelors, who is 38, and his wife, two years younger, had to submit to a searching examination into their married life. They had to produce testimonials from people who knew them.

Neighbors were called to testify in support of the claim that for a year and a day husband and wife had lived quietly and happily. Given evidence of regretting their trip to the altar.

Counselors in wigs and gowns, following all the ancient rites and customs, appeared for the various claimants. Rev. Herbert Dunning was counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Groves, who had their children on hand to help it press the jury.

Effort to trap the couple were futile. It was suggested that Groves' attendance at frequent all night sessions of the House of Commons might have been a severe strain on Mrs. Groves' faith. But he repelled this insinuation by proving that he had been in constant telephonic communication with his wife whenever he had to be away all night.

"The most important rule for a husband to be happy," says Groves, "is to model your wife on your ideal. My ideal was Agnes in Dickens' 'David Copperfield.' Don't regard your wife as an angel, any better than you are, or any worse. And in the family give and take, don't do all the giving yourself and expect her to do all the taking."

"People are wrong who think common interests form the key to married happiness," says Mrs. Groves. "Wives who are suspicious of their husbands make a mistake. A wife's greatest duty is to make the home a resting place."

Randolph Macon Had Good Year

The executive committee of the board of trustees of Randolph Macon Institute met yesterday in annual session to hear the report of Principal C. C. Evans on the year's work. Members attending the meeting were Rev. R. F. Lippincott, of Lynchburg, and Walter Pettibone, of this city. James T. Colton and Frank T. Latham, members of the committee, now of Richmond, were unable to attend.

Mr. Evans reported a highly successful year. The institute of students was held to its capacity but the enrollment was not as large as 1921 when a record breaking year was had and when it was necessary to rent outside buildings to accommodate the students.

Yesterday's discussions revealed no plan for the extension of the Randolph Macon Institute, it being recognized that the long delayed movement cannot well be stimulated until the Christian Education movement launched by the church has been completed. This will not be before the close of the year and at the Educational Commission of the Southern Methodist church was held that no individual campaign could be made until the larger movement had been completed. There is little hope of the addition being made prior to that time.

The board of trustees which has a membership of 44, will meet on Monday at Ashland, when there will be reports on the Randolph Macon system. Dr. J. W. Blodgett and Frank Talbot probably will attend from this city.

Runaway Girl, 16, Arrested Here, Is Taken Back Home

Relatives of sixteen-year-old Effie Smiley, who ran away from her home near Clover yesterday morning and arrested here enroute to Greensboro, to marry, came for the girl last night and have taken her home. The young girl was taken in custody yesterday afternoon early by Sergeant H. T. Haraway and Patrolman R. A. Adams, whose suspicions were aroused by her actions, who had told several different tales to the officers. At the time she was driving a Ford touring car, in the rear of which was a suitcase, filled with her clothing. The girl in custody of an uncle left last night for her home, after having been in charge of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Smiley on Thomas street.

Relatives of the girl who live here, this morning expressed a desire to correct the girl's self confessed story that she had stolen her father's machine. It was claimed that the car belonged to her, it being explained that her mother gave it to her as a present in which to ride to school each day, owing to the long distance to the school building. The girl's father is said, live about three miles from Clover and the young girl had this distance to walk every morning. It was this, it is claimed that prompted the mother to give her daughter the machine. The young woman had already admitted to the police that she had taken the machine yesterday morning without her parents' consent.

Miss Smiley was arrested at a filling station on North Main street, off the station on North Main street, where the officers had seen her pass twice in the machine. About two hours after her arrest, a telegram was received from South Boston, requesting that the girl be held for taking the machine. She was then turned over to the community welfare association who learned that she had relatives here and left her in charge of her grandparents.

The young girl's statement yesterday to the police that she ran away from home because her father was a drunken man and because she was mistreated was also denied by relatives here this morning. It was said that instead of being ill-treated the girl was given anything she wanted and permitted to run away from home as she pleased. The parents had no inkling of their daughter's intention of running away from home. It also stated that the girl, when questioned regarding statements to the police, said she was frightened and did not know what she was saying.

Visitor To Danville Suddenly Taken Ill

Miss Blanche Burch, formerly of this city but now of Columbia, S. C., and who was taken seriously ill early this week while on a visit to her sisters, Misses Lella and Ruth Burch, Jefferson street, underwent an operation at the General Hospital yesterday. Her condition today was reported as little changed, the effects of the anesthesia not having passed off.

Miss Burch was on her way to Boston, Mass., in order to attend the finals at Tufts College, where her brother, Harry Burch, a well remembered Danville boy, is to receive his diploma as a full graduate in medicine next Tuesday. She decided to spend several days visiting her sisters here and it was while here that she was unexpectedly stricken and a serious operation was advised.

Her brother has been eminently successful since leaving Danville. He first took a degree in pharmacy, then seven years ago at Knoxville, Tenn., he received a full course of study at Tufts which has equipped him for the wider field of medicine.

Does Your Figure Tell The Truth?

Have You the Figure That Really Belongs to You?

Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., America's Connoisseur of Feminine Beauty, Tells Here the Secret of the "Self-Made Figure"

By FLORENZ ZEIGFELD, Jr.

I VENTURE to surmise that nowadays not one woman in twenty-five—possibly in a hundred—has the figure that suits her. She wants to be thinner, or fatter—thinner, usually, because in this country a passion for slenderness prevails. It's a shock to an American to go to the countries just south of us, where avoirdupois is considered beautiful.

"She'd be beautiful if there were about twenty-five pounds less of her!" I heard one American business man say of a South American. "She's far too fat!"

And the young lady's countrymen considered him a strong, man.

Now, the fault with women who go about in figures that aren't theirs is lack of initiative. They think that figures are like noses, or the color of one's eyes, or something akin to those unchangeable details.

The truth of the matter is, that there's many a self-made figure as there's many a self-made man. But as a usual thing, a figure has to be trained in the way it should go. Women who don't know this, who think that they just happen to have good figures, or happen not to, will sell the logic of this if they'll give it a moment's thought.

They train everything else. They go to school, as children, to train their minds. Even after they've grown up, and married and brought up a family, they go on training their minds—joining clubs, studying, keeping up with the affairs of the world.

They train their faces. Just consult the list of beauty parlors in any classified telephone directory, remembering that that list is but an incomplete one, and you'll agree with me in that statement. Many fortunes have been made in selling preparations to enhance beauty, and made in some instances, not because the product itself was any good, but because its manufacturers said it was, in their advertising.

But—women do not train their figures. That is, not unless they have to depend on beauty to help them earn their living.

The women of the stage fall into that class. They know that they can't afford to overlook anything that is going to mean anything in the way of beauty. So they go in for beautiful figures, right from the start.

Some of them were lucky, because they began when they were very young. But it's possible for a woman who has reached thirty, the gateway of middle age, to acquire a figure that will be proud of the figure that belongs to her.

It may seem impossible, but what woman who has reached thirty, and who has not made a success of her life, should not be able to get a figure that will be proud of the figure that belongs to her?

One was dancing every night and two afternoons a week on the stage, and rehearsing in between times for another production. And every day she took a dancing lesson.

"And of course I practice at night, before I go to bed," she added, "just as a matter of course. I do all the stretching exercises and practice the new steps I've learned. Just one last time."

Energy Brings Results

It's energy like that that brings results. That girl's figure was an unusually beautiful one; she had posed for several artists, and had got the engagements for that reason.

Nor is it the chorus girl alone who dances. The business woman of today joins her. If you knew the big dancing teachers in the various cities, and could talk with them, you would find that they have classes for the woman who works, and wants to get rid of "the office-desk figure." She doesn't want to be middle-aged looking, even though middle age is upon her. She wants to walk as lightly as a young girl does; wants to stand well, and move about easily. She knows, too, that dancing for an hour once or twice a week will improve her general health. So she joins a dancing class.

And there she acquires the figure that belongs to her.

A dancer will tell you that dancing makes thin people fat, and fat people thinner. It makes the muscles and the bones firm, and the figure beautiful.

along the floor when she walks and sits down without bending her knees till the last minute, and then she groans something awful!

"I know; I guess it's rheumatism, maybe," was the sympathetic reply. "Don't ask her; she may be sensitive about it."

Miss G— laughed, and remembering the price of her dancing lessons and the scathing remarks of her family, she laughed again. At home they had remarked dispassionately that anybody who would pay out money to be made as she was, deserved to be put in a padded cell. Her brother refused to walk down the street with her; he said he couldn't stand the pitying glances of passers-by, and that if she wanted to go around as if she had a creeping paralysis, he wouldn't be a party to it.

The lameness were off in a week, and in six months she was a figure to be proud of. That really belongs to her, and she needed only a little more training to make it perfect.

Want Democratic Convention Held In Metropolis

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Democratic party and their bearing on candidates and issues in the 1924 presidential campaign, are being shadowed forth by the drive undertaken in this vicinity to induce the national committee to hold the Democratic national convention in New York City.

"Why not hold the convention in New York?" inquired the New York World, a staunch and powerful party organ, upon hearing that Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, San Francisco and other points were going to bid for the big conclave. Thereupon the world set busy booming the idea and new reports 100,000 business men in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey banded together to produce the influence the bonus or whatever else is necessary to have the convention staged in the nation's metropolis.

Norman E. Mack, Democratic national committee man for New York, has been delegated to bring home the bacon from the meeting of the national committee in Washington next winter, but it appears he has made no great headway up to date in procuring pledges of commitment to vote for New York.

One argument against holding the convention in New York was destroyed when the 1920 convention was held in San Francisco. Therefore, it had been contended that a central gathering place in the interior of the country must be chosen as it would be unfair to require delegates from either coast to cross the continent at great expense of time and money.

How much New York is prepared to give the concession not even the world has presumed to state. Usually the city winning the Democratic convention undertakes not only to pay the convention expenses but to make a handsome contribution to the campaign fund.

San Francisco in 1920 when its sponsors tossed a $125,000 certified check onto the conference table San Francisco made money on the convention and didn't lose a cent.

In Chicago a Republican convention is rolled up to bring from $4,000,000 to the public theatres and stores. A Democratic convention is rated at a lower value commercially, as to how much lower opinions vary.

Leading the chorus, however, will be the least of New York's difficulties in obtaining the convention. The world scarcely had launched its campaign when William Randolph Hearst, speaking off the once and a while, began to utter the suggestion with alarm. It would be dangerous to hold the convention in the very lap of Wall Street. There would be no telling what would happen to the Democratic lams from the woolly West. Wall Street might gobble the convention, nominations and platform. The Hearst alarm is echoed by the followers of William Jennings Bryan who was unwilling to proceed at Baltimore in 1921 unless the convention were purged of the presence of Thomas F. Ryan and other Wall street influences.

A new difficulty has developed with the repeal of the New York State prohibition enforcement law and the rise of Governor Smith to leadership of the wet Democracy. The prohibition Democrats are shocked at the suggestion of the party meeting in this unregenerate and abandoned spot which they doubt not will be flowing with liquor by the summer of 1924. For some reason they fear that the nomination of a dry candidate and the writing of a dry platform would not be promoted thereby. Impressed by the outcry from dry precincts, the Democratic Times observes judiciously that Al Smith's signature of the state prohibition law repealer destroyed whatever chance New York may have had of getting the national party headquarters.

The Alcadoo supporters, with some exceptions among New York women, prefer that the convention be held in New York. Mr. Hearst prefers San Francisco, and, when functioning as a Democrat, even figures on taking the California delegation away from McAdoo. As a third party man, however, Mr. Hearst does not care where the "reactionary, boss-controlled Democrats go and advises Mr. Ford to care less. This undercurrent partisanship is willing to let the party meet anywhere in the east or west, provided it is not too far west where the dries and the radicals abound.

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns last season, led the American League in home runs with 39. Williams at present is showing the way in the American League and hopes to repeat as the leading slugger. If Dame Fortune continues to smile on him as she did in a recent game at Sportsman's Park against the Boston Red Sox, Williams is certain to top Babe Ruth.

It is questionable if there ever was a more unusual home run than that scored by Williams off Pitcher Bill Piercy. Williams, a left-handed hitter, pulled a curve ball that was inside down along the foul line. The ball shot off first base on the ground about a foot far. It continued to hug the foul line and looked to be good for a single, a double at the very best.

The ball was hit so hard that the Red Sox right fielder decided to play the ball on the rebound off the pavilion wall, rather than to try to get in front of it and have the ball shoot by him. However, the ball, instead of rebounding as would be the case 999 times out of 1,000, hit the wall, shot about ten feet in the air, cleared the wire screen that is placed in front of the right field bleachers and dropped out of sight into a narrow space between pavilion and bleachers.

Since the ball passed out of playing territory it was ruled a home run. Its freaky feature, is that starting from the bat a ground ball and traveling along the foul line in that manner for a distance of perhaps 270 feet, it ended its journey by a 12-foot leap over the wall, due to a peculiar English it took off the side of the pavilion.

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—"While it may be true that both Mexico and the United States can live without relations with each other, it undoubtedly is true that neither desires such a condition."

Charles B. Warren, one of the American delegates to the mixed commission of Americans and Mexicans which is discussing the points at issue between the two countries, spoke these words today in the course of an address at the convention of Mexican municipalities.

"We are trying," he declared, "to obtain an expression of opinion from the authorized representatives of your people which will inspire our people with the feeling that they can decide in their relations with the Mexican people with confidence—that they can do business here with safety and benefit both themselves and Mexicans. We only ask that no one be permitted under color of law to resort to excesses against the rights of individuals, no matter from what country they come."

ZERO HOUR IS APPROACHING HE SAYS AMERICAN FARMER'S

By GEORGE BRITT
(Special to The Bee)

DES MOINES, Ia., June 8.—When you overlook the rustic enquiry of "How's crops?" you want to perk up and take notice of the answer. It's a far more vital question in the United States than present growing season the almost ever before.

For 1923 is the farmers' year of fate.

No less an authority than O. E. Bradford, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is back of that statement.

"The outlook so far is good, but if it doesn't pan out, it's all up with thousands of farmers," says Bradford.

"They can't run along on paper any farther. The level of agricultural depression has lifted since late 1920.

"The farmer can see daylight now. His accounts are not so deeply in red ink, figures as they were two years ago. But the time is almost here when he must be paying off his mortgages. The banks have got to be cared for.

"Unless this turns out to be a good crop year, I am afraid we shall see foreclosures snapping all around us."

The farmer this year has a fair fighting chance to overcome his handicaps than any time recently, Bradford points out. His greatest gain, perhaps, has been in the intangible quality of renewed optimism. He is cheerful again and believes he can put out of this year.

One of the things he has the machinery of the newly amended federal warehouse act to help in marketing. He can hold his crops to sell them when the market is right, stepping into the position of the middleman and dealing more directly with the consumer.

A second advantage from legislation is the new rural credits act which makes it possible to get long-term loans on advantageous terms. The Farm Bureau Federation is trying to come to the rescue still further by seeking reduced railroad rates on agricultural products.

"But in this critical period, the only safe policy for the farmer is to conserve what resources he has," declares Bradford.

"In at least one of the states, the president of the State Farm Bureau has advised the farmers not to buy anything that is not absolutely essential. The reports from the big mail order houses say their business is growing. I suspect that the meaning is that the farmers are seeking to buy necessities by mail and save a few cents on each purchase under the price at the crossroads stores.

"During the war period of prosperity, farmers got used to a higher standard of living. They got their automobiles and victrolas and silk socks and sent their children to college. Farmers now are fighting to maintain that standard, and they have a right to those things.

In some instances, however, I know that they are keeping up that pace at the expense of their capital investment. They are letting their farms go without fences and fertilizer and paint. That means that they are consuming their farms.

One other angle to the situation is pointed out in the states where co-operative marketing prevails, and on crops so organized, the recovery to prosperity is greater than in the non-co-operative states.

That may be simple coincidence, Bradford admits. But it is a fact.

WILLIAMS SCORES FLUKE HOME RUN

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns last season, led the American League in home runs with 39. Williams at present is showing the way in the American League and hopes to repeat as the leading slugger. If Dame Fortune continues to smile on him as she did in a recent game at Sportsman's Park against the Boston Red Sox, Williams is certain to top Babe Ruth.

It is questionable if there ever was a more unusual home run than that scored by Williams off Pitcher Bill Piercy. Williams, a left-handed hitter, pulled a curve ball that was inside down along the foul line. The ball shot off first base on the ground about a foot far. It continued to hug the foul line and looked to be good for a single, a double at the very best.

The ball was hit so hard that the Red Sox right fielder decided to play the ball on the rebound off the pavilion wall, rather than to try to get in front of it and have the ball shoot by him. However, the ball, instead of rebounding as would be the case 999 times out of 1,000, hit the wall, shot about ten feet in the air, cleared the wire screen that is placed in front of the right field bleachers and dropped out of sight into a narrow space between pavilion and bleachers.

Since the ball passed out of playing territory it was ruled a home run. Its freaky feature, is that starting from the bat a ground ball and traveling along the foul line in that manner for a distance of perhaps 270 feet, it ended its journey by a 12-foot leap over the wall, due to a peculiar English it took off the side of the pavilion.

POVERTY SPARES GREAT STATUE OF EX-KAISER

BERLIN, June 8.—Despite the protests of radicals, Wilhelm the First's great marble statue will continue to grace the center of Reichstag lobby, a place of honor under the rotunda analogous to that occupied by Germany's Unknown Soldier at the time of his funeral in Washington. It would cost $9,000,000 marks, or nearly $1,000,000 to move the colossal piece hence the young republic's slim pocketbook oblige it to swallow whatever scruples it may have against reminders of its monarchical forbears.

The statue was installed in 1905, 11 years after the Reichstag building itself was completed. Its erection was ordered by Germany's late Emperor, the present refugee at Doorn. Wilhelm I ruled at the time construction of the Reichstag was commenced, in 1884.

Agitation for having the memorial removed to some less conspicuous spot was begun by the Socialists. Their clamor finally reached the Reichstag decorations committee, which had also been called upon to consider wiping out all other traces of the former monarchy. Art experts were called in and they decided that, in any case, the statue occupied an unfavorable position from an artistic point of view. This opinion brought the democratic faction to the support of the Socialists, but the committee has now decided that the operation must be postponed because the expense would be prohibitive at present.

CARLETON DONE WITH MATRIMONY

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, June 8.—"I'm cured. I'm not going to marry anybody," was the emphatic, even bitter, denial of Carl Carleton, theatrical producer, who he is engaged to Martha Lorber, folies beauty and pupil of Fekine, ballet master.

Carleton is absolutely through, forever, and ever, with marriage, he declared.

"I tried marriage," he said, "and I'm cured. Miss Lorber worked for me in 'Tangerine' but I have not seen her in quite a while. Some people tell me they know I'm secretly married to her, but if I am, I don't know anything about it. As far as I'm concerned I'm through with matrimony."

Carleton's unfortunate venture with Edith Day, the popular musical comedy star, was not his first marriage. When he was still an actor and had not gained fame and fortune, he married Vera Sheffield, a Worcester, Mass. girl who ran away from home and another suitor to meet Carleton in St. Louis. They were soon divorced.

Edith Day, who was divorced by Carleton, recently married Pat Somerset, the English actor named as correspondent in Carleton's divorce action. Somerset was divorced by Margaret Bannerman, a Canadian actress, who named Miss Day.

Filipino Seized Before Hurling Body Into Water

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 8.—Standing on a dark and lonely Staten Island pier, Elusgo Lozade, a Filipino, was seized by a police sergeant tonight as he was about to hurl a package containing the body of a young white woman into the Kill Van Kull which separated Staten Island and New Jersey.

The body, wrapped in newspapers, had been brought from Manhattan on a ferry boat to St. George Ferry, police said, and taken from there in a taxi to Mariner's Harbor, about eight miles away. The young woman, a blonde about 30 years had been strangled to death.

Lozade was seized by Sergeant Miller just as he was about to throw his bundle into the water. The prisoner, police said, refused to answer many questions but finally told them he was a porter and that both he and the girl had been employed in a doctor's office in Manhattan. Police said he admitted he intended to dump the body overboard on the trip from Manhattan but was prevented from doing so by the large number of passengers.

Manhattan police went to the address given by Lozade as his home, but no one there knew him. It was said no Filipino lived there. The prisoner finally said the woman was a nurse and that her name was Blossom Martin.

Inside the newspaper the body was wrapped in a green portiere, the police said.

The chauffeur of the taxi, after he had been discharged by Lozade, reported to police that he had helped the Filipino place the bundle in the cab. He said he became suspicious when he felt what seemed to be soft flesh inside the package.

Later Dr. G. B. McAuliffe, Miss Martin's employer was questioned by police concerning the girl's death. At 2:30 o'clock newspaper reporters, detectives and Dr. McAuliffe were locked in the doctor's home and no one was permitted to leave.

At the conclusion of the questioning of Dr. McAuliffe, police said they believed Miss Martin had been murdered in his home. A blood spot was found in a bed room on the top floor which Dr. McAuliffe said the Filipino butler occupied and two green portieres were missing from a room in another part of the house.

Lozade, the butler, and Miss Martin had been lovers, Dr. McAuliffe told the police. Lozade, who is 31 years old, had been in the doctors' employ for about 2 years. Miss Martin, who did not live in the house, had worked for the doctor about four years, he said.

FOREIGN TRADE REACHES PEAK

"This increase is even more impressive," the bureau said, "when it is noted that 62 classifications of imports and exports recorded, 41 show increases, thus establishing the substantial character of the advance."

The traffic in "dry" cargoes, as distinguished from those carried in tank vessels, comprised 947,000 tons or 72 per cent of the total March increase.

Ward Henry, 18, Is Held For the Murder Of Kidd

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—Ward Henry, 18, was arrested by the police late today in connection with the killing Wednesday night of William Hugh Kidd, 20-year-old student of the University of Richmond, who was run down by a speeding automobile in front of the Jefferson Hotel during an intermission in a dance given at the hotel in connection with the University finals. Henry, who said he came to this city some time ago from Newburn, N. C., is held in jail on a warrant charging him with being a suspicious character, suspected of murder.

According to the police, Henry was employed by a local garage. An automobile alleged to have stolen Monday night was found deserted on Gambel Hill Park a few hours after the youth was killed. The officers said Henry had frequently cleaned and oiled the car at the garage where he was employed. Henry was questioned at length by detectives, but the officers said, he did not give a clear account of his movements Wednesday night. He finally admitted, according to the officers, that he did not go home until after 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Kidd was killed shortly after midnight. Henry's home is only a short distance from the point where the deserted car was found.

An inquest into the death of the student was conducted today by Dr. Jhon W. Brodnax, acting coroner, who found that the youth came to his death by an automobile recklessly drive by an unknown person.

Twelve Americans In Troon Tourney

By LAWRENCE PERRY.
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)
NEW YORK, June 8.—Among the two hundred odd golfers who are entered in the qualifying rounds of the British open championship at Troon, Scotland, next Monday and Tuesday, are twelve American experts. It is a speaking indication of our development in the ancient sport that more than one of our home-bred enthusiasts are regarded by English critics as having better than a fair chance of taking the trophy, which as a matter of fact, is now held by Walter Hagen who brought the prize to this country last year.

Of our American professionals who will participate in play at Troon, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, St. Ernie, and Johnny Farrell of Quaker Ridge, N. Y., are the invaders most feared by the British golfing world. Hagen has the prestige of holding the trophy at the present time while his extraordinary exploits in his American tour in company with Joe Kirkwood and how they won the English title together up to his best since arriving in England, where Sarazen has been going strong as to see his victory in the North England Open Tourney.

Jim Barnes is, of course, feared to fall into the phrase of "the big man" and the prize Long Jim is always there giving the best he has—which is plenty. The other Americans are Charles Hoffman, Philadelphia Tommy Armour, New York George Aubuch, Boston J. Thompson, Richmond McDonald Smith, St. Francis, W. W. Clark, Danville, N. C. Leo Diegel, Washington and Harry Brown Mexico City.

All are well known British Pros. Sandy Herd, Harry Vardon, Ted Ray, Jim Braid, George Duncan, Abe Mitchell and J. H. Taylor, who in 1901, won the Claret Cup, the only high-ranking amateur entered.

PHYSICIAN INTERESTED IN OUTCOME OF SUIT

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
ST. GEORGE, S. I., June 8.—Physicians and surgeons throughout the country are keenly interested in the suit of Pasquale Durrante, of St. George, for $100,000 damages against Dr. Donato V. Catalano whose negligence Durrante charges was responsible for the death of his wife on May 30, 1922. Members of the medical profession, crowded the court room when the action opened before Supreme Court Justice Carswell and a jury here today.

Five days before Mrs. Durrante died according to the complaint, Dr. Catalano diagnosed her illness as gall stones and prescribed accordingly. That night Durrante said he called the physician on the phone and told him he thought his wife was suffering from appendicitis. Durrante says that night and advised him to call to his wife's abdomen.

The next day Dr. Catalano agreed with Durrante's diagnosis and ordered her removal to St. Vincent's hospital. She was operated upon, but complications had set in and she died.

Mrs. J. J. Farley has gone to Johns Hopkins hospital where she will undergo special treatment.

Stupendous Anti-Accident Drive Cuts Traffic Toll

BY MAURICE HENLE
(Special to The Bee)
DETROIT, June 8.—Play safe on the highway or meet the under-taker! Your choice, Mr. Citizen: Eternal care or death.

That sums up the message brought home to Detroiters after a flying start of the most impressive safety-first campaign ever conducted by a municipality.

Detroit, the most notoriously congested city in the country, the automobile Mecca of the world, is setting the pace to minimize the dangers which her industries created.

The shoe fits—Detroit is putting it on with a vengeance!

This intensive and rather spectacular campaign was absolutely necessary, people say here.

Unless you're actually here, it will be almost impossible to realize the congestion. You get the same thrill crossing a Detroit street that you get riding a roller coaster. Your heart jumps up in your mouth, to borrow an old phrase, and when you get across safely, you are thrilled to the core, and give vent to a long, thankful "Ah-h-h!"

So when it was decided to start a permanent safety-first campaign, those in charge set about to do it right.

They erected before the city hall a white monument, and on it had inscribed the names of those killed in traffic accidents during the present year. A long list it was too.

Then they thought of the man who profits but gets no pleasure from these fatalities—the undertaker. Life-size cardboard figures resembling what the public long has come to associate with the embalming profession were placed at vantage points along main thoroughfares.

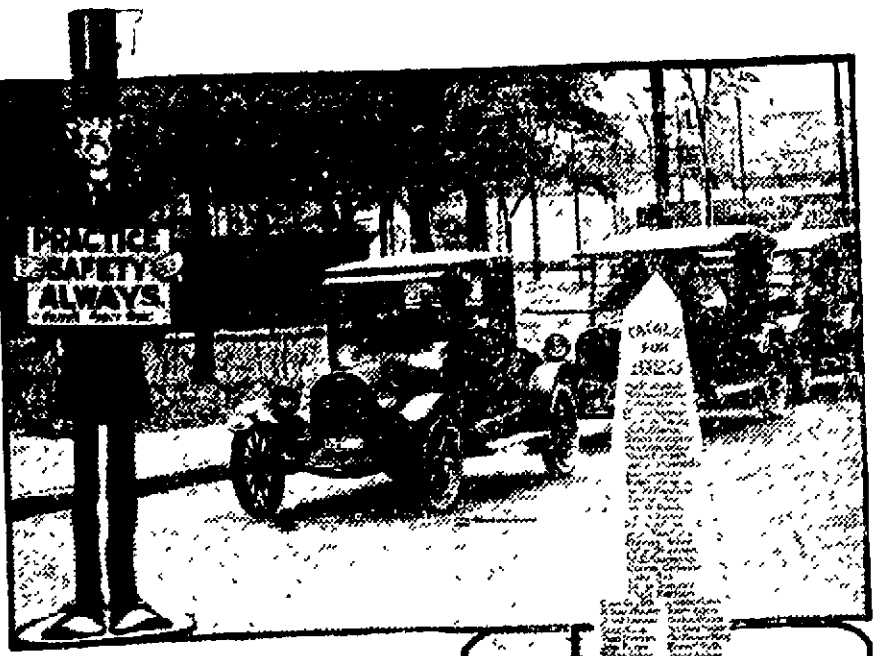

Tall black stove pipe hats, long black coat black tie, black trousers, black shoes, black gloves and black gloves. Isn't he a cute, cheerful sort of individual to be grinning at passing motorists?

He's meant to be just what he is—death. Says Inspector Harry Jackson, director of traffic and safety. Along the highways leading into the city huge white crosses have been erected. They look like crosses over the graves in France. Only they are big enough to be seen a mile off. And on each is a legend. John Smith, Age 27. Died Here in a Traffic Accident. It gives the victim something to think about.

But that wasn't all. A week before the campaign started the letters "R U" four feet high, were painted on all sidewalks at crossings.

Everyone wondered. Then the word "Careful" was added. Posters, hundreds of thousands of them, bore another warning. Street cars were plastered with them and the Detroit News offered $2,000 in prizes for best solutions of the traffic problem.

This campaign differs from all others ever held in that it will not last only a week. It extends over 52 weeks, and what already has been done in a general way will be intensified in each section of the city.

LIVES SACRIFICED TO TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS IN 1923

"And what is the solution?" I asked Inspector Jackson. "Education," he answered promptly. "We must educate the people to be careful. We will put in the regulation, but how can you prevent accidents due entirely to peoples carelessness? You never will prevent them."

Many accidents are due rarely to carelessness. We have one ultimate hope. That is in the children of today. We are going into the schools and teaching safety first; and year by year, we will increase their knowledge.

"It is discouraging to see so many persons of the illiterate type driving. What can you do when you have people like these to deal with?"

"Last April we killed one a day. It was terrible. But that we can educate, in a way, through earnest persistence is shown because, during Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the first week of the campaign not one person was killed. On the next day that record had to be spoiled, and how it was spoiled shows clearly just what a real problem we have."

A street car was coming down the street. The traffic was rather heavy and it couldn't travel fast.

Then half-way down the block a little girl darted across the street and before the motorist even saw her, because she was so small, the wheels of the car had reached her.

The girl's mother wanted to hush the motorist. But I'm not so certain but that the parents of the child were the ones at fault.

In other words we have a human problem and all the iron-bound regulations won't prevent accidents. The people persist in being criminally negligent.

Ruling In Steel Shaft Golf Club Revives Controversy

By WALTER CAMP.
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)
NEW YORK, June 8.—The controversy over the use of golf clubs with steel shafts is again today with renewed force because of a fact that the steel shaft will be barred from the Metropolitan championship now in progress.

It has been stated vigorously that there were at least one or two men on the committee of the Eastern Golf Association who would continue to fight the steel shaft and meanwhile thousands of golfers who have failed to get satisfactory wooden shafts are using the steel and are totally unable to understand the prejudice against them.

This controversy is following the course of the arguments for and against the rubber cold ball during which the British strove earnestly against adoption of the improvements in ball making. Oxford and Cambridge golfers came over here and insisted on using the old gutty in spite of the handicap it put them under against American opponents who used the improved ball.

Preparatory to our next attempt to lift the British amateur title, our golfers can not do better than review the facts that led up to the winning of that honor by Walter J. Travis. Travis was the man who started the little reputation by the English and Scotch contestants. After watching him in practice it is doubtful if they took him seriously enough to be worried. His style was not particularly impressive. Travis was no long slugger. But, he always was to the middle of the fairway. Travis met Blackwell in the finals and the latter was a terrific driver yet the American's steadiness, his ability to make running up approaches in high winds and his refusal to use spectacular high pitch when unnecessary enabled him to win three holes from him.

It is a queer idea we are drifting into regarding what we called a "dead game sport" in any contest. Perhaps we ought to analyze the expression. It is drifting into an absurdity when we demand that a woman play three final decisive matches with a man, either male or female, "playing through" when admittedly in bad health. If we put a premium on gameness which requires that people risk their health or their lives just to give opponents a chance to defeat them, how must we regard the opponent who is willing to take advantage of such a situation?

It is a fine spirit which has the courage to drive drooping physical forces through a hard finish. But it is criminal and detrimental to sport to take risks with physical health. It is an appeal to sentiment or to label as "quitters" those who do not respond at all times and under all circumstances to the demands of the contest.

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—"Crutch" Russell and Traynor figured largely in Pittsburgh's 9 to 6 victory over New York today. Russell's hit was over the right field wall in the third inning when two runners were on. Traynor's home run in the fourth tied the score in the fifth. Cooper was driven from the box in the fourth when the Giants scored five runs on four hits and two passes. Morrison relieved him and checked the rally. Kinks-o the Kinks
When the rules give the player the right to hit a ball and drop what is the proper way to do it? Is there any penalty if the ball strikes the player as it is being dropped? Should the ball after being dropped roll into a hazard has the player the right to again hit the ball and re-drop it? Is there a penalty for hitting a dropped ball that rolls into a hazard?

The player shall drop the ball himself in so doing he should face the hole, stand erect and drop the ball behind him over his shoulder. There is no penalty if the ball while being dropped touches the person of the player dropping it. If the ball, after being dropped, rolls into a hazard, the player has the right to again hit the ball and re-drop it without any penalty being attached.

You are playing as a guest on a new course and about to play your second shot for a blind hole. The direction of which is uncertain to you, your caddy's ahead to watch the ball can you ask your opponent the direction and the lay of the hole?

If you are in doubt as to the direction of play you may ask your caddy, but you are not allowed to ask anyone except your caddy what club to use or how to play the stroke. If you should ask this of anyone except your caddy in medal play you are disqualified.

Grandma—Not 31

MRS. ERNEST RAYNER

SEATTLE, June 8.—Looks as young as the day of her first grandchild, but the 62-year-old grandmother of her grandchild, Mrs. Ernest Rayner, here, claims for her the title of grand champion youngest grandmother of the country.

Six days before her 62nd birthday, Mrs. Rayner was born her first grandchild, Claude Rayner, Jr. One year after that the second grandchild came.

The record, friends maintain, belongs to Mrs. Charles Brown, who is said to have had her first grandchild, Claude Brown, Jr., one year after the second grandchild came.

Mrs. Rayner's mother, Mrs. Alex. Brown, of Seattle, Wash., is but 4 years old herself, and as grandmother she must not be overlooked.

Early marriages are almost hereditary in our family, says the champion. She married when she was 16, and her husband was 17. The youngest marriage was a justly famous one. No, I don't feel any older than being a grandmother. I feel a younger grandma is found. Mrs. Rayner holds the title. "Let 'em come!" she challenges.

LEONARD MAY FIGHT AGAIN IN WEST SIDE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 8.—Chorus when profits to the extent of $24,351 in the $55,000 fight between Benny Leonard and Pinkie Mitchell which ended in a tie for all, may be given another chance. Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, is telegraphing from New York to Leonard, who is willing to come to Chicago and box for nothing. This club was to have profited about two weeks ago, the proceeds of which were under $25 after expenses were paid, according to promoter James J. Brannan.

Gibson said Leonard had a better offer from Tex Rickard, New York promoter, but wanted to help the cause in Chicago and so came here under the impression that the bout would draw about $100,000.

RUSSIA NOT TO LOWER DIGNITY

(By The Associated Press)
MOSCOW, June 8.—Soviet Russia will not lower her dignity in the eyes of the eastern peoples by withdrawing her representatives from Persia and Afghanistan at English demand. This is understood to be the official Soviet attitude in regard to Lord Curzon's latest note. The Soviet contends these representatives were not engaged in anti-British propaganda as alleged but are carrying out a defensive struggle for Russia's interests in the border land.

The Soviet government is ready to consider practically all the other points raised by the British but this point it cannot surrender.

WEAKNESS AT SHORT FATAL

CHICAGO, June 8.—Troubles of a major league manager never cease just when he seems to have remedied some flaw in his defense another one creeps out.

When the Chicago White Sox paid $100,000 for V. J. Kamm to play third base it was figured the infield of the club was made. Last year the far corner was the one weak spot on the club.

While Kamm has more than filled in at third base the White Sox infield is far from completed. The coming of Kamm was marked by the erratic showing of Shortstop Ernie Johnson.

While peer a brilliant player of stardom caliber Johnson formed in a consistent manner for the Sox last year, and no concern was felt over that position for the 1923 campaign.

Salary differences this spring caused Johnson to report late. The year's handicap as was the cold weather of the late spring to a veteran player like Johnson. As a result he has failed to hit his stride and his showing has been far below the standard he has set in years past.

No club gets very far without a consistent performer at short. Instead of starting with a good infield defense Manager Gleason found his team shy at the most important position on the infield.

Johnson forced Gleason to use McClellan originally a third baseman, at short. McClellan has met with varying success due to the fact that the position is a bit new to him. But he has much ability and the failure Johnson may give him the big change.

There is no denying that a weakness at short coupled with the failure of the pitching staff to come through, has been the cause of the White Sox's slow start.

STATEMENT IS INACCURATE

(By The Associated Press)
PEKING, June 8.—B. DeFretas, dean of the diplomatic corps today, registered a protest with the Chinese foreign office against the reported statement of Premier Chang Tsoo-lin, June 1, in the effect, that foreign diplomats owing to their inexperience that troops not be used against the Shantung bandits were to obtain release of the foreign captives held on Peichow. DeFretas declared such a statement to be flagrant, inaccurate and deplorable because in international courtesy. The protest was dated June 6, a sequel to Premier Chang's statement which President Li Yung Chang has so far refused to accept.

Durham Defeats Danville Team In 11th Inning

DURHAM, N. C., June 8.—Rodgers' single, Reeser's sacrifice and Kearney's two batters gave Durham the winning run in the 11th inning over Danville here this afternoon making the final count 3 to 2. It was an exciting game of ball from start to finish both pitchers W. Gibson for Danville and A. Gibson for Durham were about evenly matched. Springfield was the fielding star of the contest. He did not have many chances but made some brilliant plays. Dorman also played a good game at short for Danville. The Bulls did not support their two pitchers. They made six errors and played loosely behind him but he tightened up and allowed the visitors but five hits. Danville staged a rally in the ninth but Gibson tightened up again and prevented them from scoring. Danville tied the contest in the tenth and the game then went scoreless until the eleventh when the locals gave the fans a thrill by sending the winning run across.

For some reasons not ascertained Murphy went out of the game during the early stages of the contest. He was sent to third and Harris to outfield. The box score:

QUIMET WINS FROM LALLY

(By The Associated Press)
BRISOL, Tenn., June 8.—Ray Quimet, professional at the Bristol Country Club, the brother of Francis Quimet former open national champion, defeated Jim Lally, professional from Vicksburg, Miss., in an exhibition match here, 18 to 13. Quimet was badly off in the exhibition, missing several easy putts, while Quimet played a steady game, at times sensational. The score was Quimet 38-36-74; Lally 41-38-79. Seventy four is par for the 18 holes. Quimet made three birdies in the last six holes of the second round.

It's Laughs That Count For "Fatty," Staging Comeback

(Special to The Bee)
CHICAGO, June 8.—Laughs may be the immediate objective in "Fatty" Arbuckle's "comeback" appearance here, but the comedian will tell anyone it's no laughing matter. Upon the volume and spontaneity of those laughs depend everything, so far as he's concerned. The thumbs up or thumbs down of the Roman populace meant no more to the gladiator in the arena.

"It is the biggest thing of my life," says "Fatty" referring to his first bow to the public in two years. And the smile accompanying the remark didn't cover its intensity.

"This is simply my big chance to go along on my merits," he explains. "I can do the stunts that are funny. They are tried and true recipes for making people laugh. That is my line. I haven't any shadow of doubt about being able to touch their risibilities. But the problem is how they will respond."

The Chicago debut is at a big outdoor floor pleasure garden, frequented by the festive and fashionable of the city. It will be considered, however, as a cross-section of entertainment seekers everywhere. If this audience laughs heartily enough, there will be future movie comedies directed by Arbuckle.

If they do not laugh—
"Well, I'll take a train back to seclusion," he explains.

The only chance so far has been with "wildcat" promoters. Attempts to capitalize any sort of publicity. Or else it might have gone to Europe, which might have seemed to be a reasonable prospect.

"Here, though, a responsible producer is taking a chance on me simply as he would on any other laugh maker. He isn't putting me under any handicap. It's just an even break."

Mayo Baseball Park Burned During Game

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—Fire originating from a lighted cigarette thrown into a pile of trash near the pavilion late today destroyed the grandstand, pavilion club-house and other buildings at Mayo Island Park and burned a houseboat and two launches tied up at the wharf of the Virginia Boat Club, while 2,000 spectators at the baseball game between the Richmond and Portsmouth clubs of the Virginia League scrambled to safety. One man was slightly injured.

H. P. Dawson owner of the Richmond, estimated the damage to the park at $25,000. Damage to the houseboat, launches and nearby buildings of the boat club, it was probably would not exceed $5,000.

The park buildings were destroyed within fifteen minutes. A swift wind from the James River drove the flames through the wooden structures which burned like tinder. Fire apparatus rushed to the scene from several town stations was practically useless because of the low water pressure. Only the bleachers in the park were saved.

Two game was called in the 11th inning when the fire started with Richmond leading 7 to 3. Officials of the two clubs announced that the remaining games of the series would be played at the Church Hill Athletic Club's Park.

Owners of the park said the erection of a new grandstand and clubhouse would begin immediately with a view to completing the work within a week.

If the men intended to kill him, this is shown in the fact that a typewritten note headed:

DUNDEE TO MEET CRIQUI JULY 30

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
NEW YORK, June 8.—Johnny Dundee, former junior lightweight champion and leading contender for the featherweight title, which has won from Johnny Kilbane Saturday by Eugene Criqui, today signed to meet the new champion on July 30, at the Polo Grounds.

Dundee attached his signature to a contract this afternoon in the offices of Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the New York Athletic Club. Criqui signed yesterday. The conditions stipulate that both Criqui and Dundee shall weigh in at 126 pounds at 8 o'clock on the day of the fight. Criqui, as champion, is to get 47.5 per cent of the gate, with 12.5 per cent to Dundee.

"Criqui will beat Dundee," says Jimmy Wilde, who has seen both men in action more than once. "Dundee can't hit and he will be waltz at the weight. Criqui is a better fighter than he showed last Saturday. He was off form then, but he will be much better when he meets Dundee. The Frenchman is game and can take it in the body. Dundee will not hurt him much. I think Criqui has a good chance to stop him, although I know how tough he is."

Manager Rudolph's statement that Criqui would stay a week before the battle with Kilbane calls attention to the fact that Jack Dempsey is in some danger of going stale. If the heavyweight champion should suffer a slump he might not be so fortunate to recover before the bout with Criqui. Recently Dempsey became so thin and drawn that they sent him away on a fishing trip to take his mind off the fight and give him a chance to pick up a few pounds to work on. The champion is a bundle of nerves and always is in danger of working too hard.

Challenges to the two new champions created last week, Jack Bernstein and Criqui, are coming in from all directions. One of the interesting that came to Criqui was the offer of Carl Tremaine, Cleveland bantam, to fight him for the featherweight title. Tremaine says that since Joe Lynch cannot be dragged into the ring with him, he might as well try for a shot at the featherweight crown.

BLUE-EYED BANDIT SOUGHT IN KILLING

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 8.—Police search for the blue-eyed girl bandit who slew R. T. Tesmond, wealthy insurance man at his home here Tuesday has been extended outside Illinois.

Mrs. Gertrude Geson, foremost among the dozen or more suspects whom the police call a notorious gun-fighter, is being sought in Milwaukee where she recently has been and her former haunts in Chicago, Peoria and Joliet are being watched. Discounting the theory that Tesmond was killed by a ring of auto thieves which the insurance man had vigorously prosecuted the police are convinced that robbery was the motive of the hold-up.

Young People's Conference Is Very Successful

With the holding of two group meetings last night in the auditorium of the Danville Military Institute, the second day's session of the four days Young People's Conference of the Roanoke Presbytery came to a close. Delegates who arrived during the day brought the total number registered to seventy-five. The attendance for the day amounted to about a hundred as people from Danville and surrounding places came to the meetings. The delegates attending the conference represent a majority of the churches in the presbytery.

The conference has proved to be so successful for the first two days of the four days conference that those in charge predict that it will be made an annual affair. The work is in charge of the Rev. T. K. Currie, of Richmond, who is supervisor of Sunday School and young people's work of the synod of Virginia. The Rev. T. S. Wilson, D. D., director of the Young People's Work of the Roanoke synod arrived yesterday afternoon and took part in the work of the conference last night. The teachers of the various groups are as follows: P. W. Buchanan, of Richmond, in charge of foreign mission study; Miss Helen Cook, of Danville, in charge of the home study work; the Rev. J. B. Blumhagen, of Richmond, in charge of the Christian Endeavor work; and Dr. Wesley Baker, of Richmond, in charge of the Sunday School work. Colonel W. M. Kemper, and Major Robert Reeves are also helping in the conference work. The committee in charge is composed of the following: the Rev. H. S. Morgan, of Knoxville; the Rev. T. S. Wilson, New Ferry; Col. W. M. Kemper, superintendent of Danville Military Institute; the Rev. T. K. Currie, of Richmond; and T. K. Mowbray, of South Boston.

The exercises yesterday morning began with a lecture by Dr. Joseph Dugan, of the Danville First Presbyterian church. His lecture was a character study on the life of Esau. After the lecture the conference was divided into groups which were taught by the various group leaders. In the afternoon after the rest hour, the young people were divided into two sections for athletic events. One group took as its color orange, the other blue. Mr. W. H. Lynchburg was director of the recreations. The Orange team was declared winner, it having scored the most points.

The night session was in charge of the Rev. T. P. Johnston of Christiansburg, was in charge of the night session. The subject of his address was "Clearing the Way." This was the first of the three lectures that he is delivering to the conference. Tonight he will deliver the second lecture, "The Foundation," and at the close of the conference on Sunday night he will finish the series, the topic being "Building the Structure."

The program for today's classes will be practically a repetition of that of yesterday, with the exception of a competition contest to take place between the Orange and Blue teams. This is to be immediately after the night session of the conference, at which time Dr. Johnston is to deliver his second lecture.

The conference will come to a close Sunday night after Dr. Johnston has delivered the third lecture of the series. In the morning Sunday school services will be held at 9 o'clock, and church at 11 o'clock. Vesper services will be held in the evening.

MORSE CASE NOT TO GO TO JURY TILL SEPTEMBER

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Morse case, now in its sixth week probably will not reach the jury in the District of Columbia Supreme Court before September 1. Counsel for the government estimated today that another three weeks would be consumed in the completion of their case in chief, which attorneys for the defense said it would require approximately two months to introduce their evidence. Introduction of official documents of the Emergency Corporation, were offered today by the government, increasing the total of prosecution exhibits to nearly four hundred. Many others are still to be offered, including records tending to show the character of government steps to corporations owned by the Morse. Prosecution also introduced a number of the cases which have not yet been touched.

LET'S CONSIDER INTERIOR OF HEAD, ASKS EDUCATOR

BY MARIAN HALE
(Special to The Bee.)

Figures have a way of showing up disconcerting truths.

They show us, for one thing, that we have at this time five million illiterate people in the United States—just 30 times as many as Germany has.

They reveal that in Massachusetts, home of culture and learning, illiteracy is increasing and that in the mountain regions of the South, where it is known to exist, it is on the decrease.

NEW YORK, June 8.—These and many other startling revelations are the reason that Charl Ormond Williams, field secretary of the National Education Association, is going all over this country arousing interest in a national department of education, with representation in the president's cabinet.

"It's sometimes hard to make people realize just how this country has grown out of all proportion to its educational facilities," she said in discussing the figures.

"Sometimes I think people are much more interested in what takes place outside the skull than inside."

"Every person in the country has something to say for or against education, but when it comes to the teachers and educators of the country, they are tremendously concerned. But it takes a change in hairdressing to focus any attention on the head, and then it is attracted only to the surface."

"How many people who rail against bobbed hair could tell you what is being put inside those heads by the teachers and educators of the country?"

"If we could only arouse the enthusiasm about educational reform we can about dress reform there could be no doubt as to the fate of education which comes up at the next session of Congress."

"What the girls of this generation

MISS CHARL O. WILLIAMS

need is more attention to the development of the mind and soul and less to the style of hair and length of skirt."

Miss Williams has had much experience in educational work. She has taught in every type of school in Tennessee from one seven miles from the railroad to the State Normal School. She was county superintendent of Shelby county for eight years.

Recently she has devoted all her time to the National Educational Association.

GEN. LE JEUNE TO SPEAK AT R.-M. FINALS

(By The Associated Press)

ASHLAND, Va., June 8.—Major General John A. Le Jeune, commander in chief of the United States Marine Corps will be one of the principal speakers at the Randolph-Macon finals, which begin tomorrow and continue through Tuesday. General Le Jeune will be the guest of honor of the alumni society Monday and will deliver a public address at noon.

The Rev. Murray D. Mitchell, of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, Roanoke will preach the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning. Henry A. Christian, of Boston, will address the alumni Monday afternoon.

Bishop William Beauchamp, of the Methodist Episcopal church of that city has charge of the work of that church in Poland, Belgium and Czechoslovakia will deliver the address to the graduating classes Tuesday morning. Bishop Beauchamp is now enroute to the States from his headquarters in Brussels.

MARTINSVILLE NEWS

MARTINSVILLE, Va., June 8.—H. L. Turner, sheriff and Grady Stultz, special prohibition officer, Thursday night near Horsepasture captured one hundred and twenty-five gallons of corn whiskey, a horse and wagon. The whiskey was destroyed and the horse and wagon brought to Martinsville. The driver of the wagon made his escape.

Although there has been some light local showers extending over a small area in the last few days only about one-third of the intended tobacco crop has been planted in this section. The wheat crop looks promising, the crop very small. Harvesting operations in the town are going as fast as the limited supply of suitable labor will permit.

Very little is heard here about the State convention, but this may have to do with the fact that there is some talk of opposition to the election of our county officers, however, up to the present, only opposition to one has been publicly announced.

The broken bridge in the bridge across Smith river on the road from here to Stuart has been repaired and the bridge is now open to traffic. The bridge was built about 30 years ago and it is thought that the State will at an early date replace it with concrete or iron.

The Martinsville delegation of Shilohs has returned from Washington. They are completely fagged out but report having a good time.

TWISTS WOMAN'S NOSE IN COURT

CHICAGO, June 8.—Judge Hebel had just opened his court today when Mrs. Veronica Hodgkowsky walked to the table where sat Mrs. Frances Budzinski and her son, Edward. Seizing Mrs. Budzinski's nose firmly between thumb and finger, Mrs. Hodgkowsky gave it a lusty tweak. The victim quaked the court gasped and arose and spectators and attorneys began clambering on chairs. Shouting, "gears," Mrs. Hodgkowsky tweaked the victim's nose in another direction until it began to look like a water-soaked frankfurter sausage. Mrs. Budzinski squealed still louder two mailiffs fell upon her tormentor and prized her loose.

"You can't pull that stuff in this court," stormed the judge. "You're in contempt of court. Bailiff put her in a cell and I'll pass sentence later."

So the nose puller was hustled over to the "bull pen" of the county jail while the pulley applied cold cream and other salves to her injured proboscis.

The case is one wherein Mrs. Hodgkowsky accuses the Budzinskis of forging her name to a bond for a criminal court defendant who has disappeared, thereby tying up her property in legal red tape.

SIKI TO COME TO U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, June 8.—Battling Siki, who is said to have received an offer of a match from Tex Rickard, will go to the United States after his fight with Morelle on June 16, according to a report here. It is said the Senegalese fighter will train at Manhasset, Long Island, under the management of Robert Eudelin, who has Eugene Criegel in charge and that he will return to France in September.

Hand-Woven Material

Hand weaving has become a tremendously popular within the past few years. For the purpose of making more attractive materials were used only for home but now they are seen in the smartest and most expensive shops in dress, coats, suits and separate skirts of the sports clothes variety.

In their wake has come two home-made fabrics that are not hand-woven but are especially good looking and fashionable for all of that. It is the effect that counts.

GUARD DOUBTS LASKER'S EXCUSE

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Mass., June 8.—The title of chairman of the United States

Shipping Board availed Albert D. Lasker little when he attempted without credentials today to pass the corporal of the guard at the South Boston pier where the big steamship Leviathan is tied up.

E. P. Farley, who is soon to be Chairman Lasker's successor had appeared five minutes earlier, explaining the questions and had been passed in the corporal when Mr. Lasker arrived, thought two chairman superfluous.

There was much explanation and the corporal consulted a marine guard then he admitted Mr. Lasker, advising him, however, to "think a better excuse next time."

CEUTA, Morocco, June 8.—Orders have been issued by the Spanish army authorities commanding all officers and soldiers of the regular army to grow mustaches.

EHMKE PITCHES

SPLENDID BALL

BOSTON, June 5.—Does Managerial handling often make a difference in the results attained from players. The case of Howard Ehmke would make it seem so.

With the Detroit club last year Howard Ehmke, who has as much stuff as any pitcher in the game, was a very erratic performer. His failure to be a consistent winner caused his coaches to be doubtful.

Ehmke, a side-arm pitcher all his life, was made over into practically an underhand pitcher last year. Incidentally Ehmke had to look for orders on almost every ball pitched. Little or nothing was left to his judgment as to the proper way to work on the batters who faced him.

Last fall Ehmke was traded to Boston. Manager Frank Chance of the Boston Red Sox, while a stern taskmaster has always been noted for his methods of permitting the pitcher to work out his own salvation. Only when Chance wants a player purposely passed does he butt in on the pitching situation.

"Go out there and pitch the ball game the best of your ability" is the way Chance put it up to Ehmke. "You have the stuff and ought to win a lot of ball games. Let me see you do it."

Evidently that was just the encouragement Ehmke needed, as he has been Boston's most effective pitcher and with a tall club is going to hang up a mighty good record.

PROHIBITION TO BE SIDE TRACKED

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
WASHINGTON, June 2.—The prohibition issue will be sidetracked completely in the writing of the Republican platform for the 1924 campaign if plans now being formulated by party leaders do not miscarry.

Senator Watson (Republican, Ind.) after a conference at the White House with President Harding today declared that if he has anything to do with shaping the party's declaration there will be no mention of the liquor question. He believes that the prohibition party should base its claim for retention in power on prosperity.

LARGE AMOUNT OF COUNTERFEIT STAMPS SEIZED

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Mich., June 8.—Between $500,000 and $600,000 worth of counterfeit American and Canadian government stamps were seized by prohibition and secret service agents today in a raid on the West Warren Avenue shop.

The seizure included thousands of labels of all the principal brands of Scotch, Canadian and American whiskey, branded corks and wrappers.

The officers also found a dozen cases of genuine liquor which they believe was to be used in flavoring counterfeit mixtures.

A man giving the name of Leonard Greenberg was arrested. Allan Muscovitz, believed to be a member of the same gang, was arrested several hours previous to the raid.

No plates or press or any part of a counterfeit's outfit was found at the West Warren Avenue shop. It is quiet probable the government men said tonight that the counterfeiting was done in England or France where they said, firms did a big business before prohibition in supply labels to distillers.

PLAN TO RAISE STANDARDS ON RAIL SYSTEM

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND O., June 8.—Plans for raising the standards of service on the newly acquired railroad system engineered and controlled by the Van Sweringen brothers of this city, call for new equipment and improvements on the Nickel Plate which will amount to $11,332,500, J. J. Berner, president, announced today.

The budget made up for the Van Sweringen system which includes the Hocking Valley, provides for complete gradual rejuvenation of the Lake Erie and western and the Cleveland.

Amounts already budgeted for 1923, on the Nickel Plate, President Berner said, are $6,066,000 for cover track, yard and other improvements, and $5,316,500 for new equipment, scheduled for delivery in time for the expected record breaking freight movement this fall.

The way the roads have met expectations during the five months of this year is a record they are proud of," Mr. Berner said, "and a record that affords satisfying evidence of the rapid recovery of the railroad industry. If they are given operating efficiency and previous accomplishment. Freight traffic during the week ending May 12, fell only a little of the record loadings in the history of the road. It is expected that during peak movements in October all previous records covering the volume of freight traffic will have been surpassed."

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY RUN AWAY ST. CAR

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, June 8.—A girl, 13, passing on the sidewalk, was killed, 3 women passengers were seriously injured, the front walls of a six story tenement were demolished for three floors, a moving picture show was abruptly brought to a stop and its 300 movie fans driven into a panic and two store fronts were smashed in an extraordinary street car accident here tonight.

The car itself, after a sensational runaway down the steep hill where La Salle and Amsterdam avenues meet on a curve, was completely smashed. The motorcar is held on a technical charge of homicide.

The district attorney's office, the transit commission, the police, the fire department and the building department are uniting on an investigation.

When the car reached La Salle, where there is a switch, spectators say it was going at a forty mile an hour clip. The car jumped the switch and careened diagonally across the street, leaped the curb crossed the sidewalk and ploughed along the face of the brick building for 75 feet before overturning.

WINE GROWERS CONGRESS ENDS

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

PARIS, June 8.—The international wine growers congress, held here under the auspices of the French government, ended tonight with the passing of a set of resolutions declaring war on prohibition.

M. Cheron, minister of agriculture, presided at the closing session when Italy, Spain, France, Portugal, Switzerland, Austria and Belgium resolved first, that it was of vital interest to all the countries represented to fight the prohibition campaign, second, that it was equally important to adopt a common propaganda campaign in favor of wine drinking and third, that an international wine office should be established in Paris or in Switzerland to carry out these provisions.

BROTHER AND SISTER MEET FOR FIRST TIME

(By The Associated Press)

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 8.—A twenty year old brother and 16 year old sister who had never met until tonight were united here tonight when Miss Mildred Moore, of Bay City, Michigan, arrived and joined her brother, M. V. Moore, a proof reader on a local newspaper.

Young Moore left home before the birth of his sister and had never returned. It was not until after that he learned of the birth of his younger sister.

PRISONERS HELD BY BANDITS BE RELEASED IN FOUR DAYS

(By The Associated Press)

TSIN TIEN, June 8.—The chief of the Shantung train bandits now holding eight foreign captives in the Pao-tauku Mountain stronghold has promised that the prisoners will be released within four days, according to a letter received today by the French consul here from Emile Gons-bur, a Shanghai broker, who is among those held.

While the general health of the prisoners was said to be satisfactory, all those who were ill having virtually recovered, intense heat is causing some discomfort.

The attitude of the outlaws toward their foreign prisoners varies according to circumstances. Some of the bandit guards seem to be willing to do anything for their captives, while others indulge in petty tyranny. J. B. Powell, Shanghai newspaperman, is said to have lost his temper recently and knocked out one of the guards who had become offensive. The bandits are continually quarreling among themselves when they are not conversing with the prisoners.

Many of the brigands, unfamiliar with fire arms, have nearly caused several tragedies by their careless handling of weapons. Yesterday one of the bandits is said to have blown his hand off by accidentally discharging a rifle.

A German priest who has just returned from the bandits' mountain retreat said that heat and flies were the worst of the captives' troubles. Many of the bandits, he said, were suffering from some ailment or other, two of them being lepers.

The priest, who is also versed in medicine, turned the good will of the bandit chieftain by attending his sick son. The priest was not allowed to stay in the camp.

Her nearest competitor was Dorothy Tompkins, who finished her dishes in one and seven eighths minutes, but one of her plates was not properly dried.

thon and encourage competition of a healthy useful sort, so the dish washing contest was gladly hailed by the public and the papers ran pictures of the leading contestants. The contest was conceived by County Superintendent of schools, E. J. Tobin, to dignify the doing of "ordinary things" and it immediately started a lot of girls helping their mothers with house work. It now is proposed to stage other contests of this character, such as washing and ironing, sewing on buttons.
